Round 1 Financing

Dinastia São Pedro has applied to Portugal's cannabis regulatory agency Infarmed, to become a licensed producer of pharmaceutical-grade medical cannabis and hemp extracts. To that end the Company would like announce that it has completed its first round of financing, closing $400,000 CDN of funding through private placement.

"Receiving support from a select and informed group of investors validates the strategy laid out by Dinastia's executive" said Ron Bell CEO of Dinastia. "This financing provides the Company with the ability to engage an architectural design team, complete permitting, begin initial site preparation, as well as participate with our regulatory consultants to complete the licensing process in Portugal."

Dinastia anticipates raising additional capital in the coming months through a second financing round in order to capitalize the cost of construction. The funds will also support the Company's marketing program offering contract manufacturing of pharmaceutical-grade cannabis extracts and consumer products to European medical and lifestyle companies.

About Dinastia São Pedro S.A.

Dinastia is in the process of building and licensing a EU-GMP cannabis extraction facility in São Pedro do Sul, Portugal. The Company's focus will be on supplying medical-grade cannabis products to licensed producers, pharmaceutical companies, health & wellness suppliers and cosmetic companies in the E.U. and UK. The Dinastia will source and process certified, sustainably-sourced and traceable biomass and crude oil from a global market. Initially, the Dinastia facility is expected to extract up to 1,750 kilograms of dried flower per month, expanding to 3,500 kilograms of dried flower per month by mid-2023.
